Bahn Thai

Bahn Thai was originally opened in a small basement restaurant in Marlborough Road, Kensington in February 1962 with the express intention of preparing and serving truly authentic Thai food to expatriate Thais and people who had spent time in Thailand, knew the culture and felt 'hometic' for a taste. We believe we were the first Thai restaurant in Britain to put no punches regarding the spiciness of the food and to import our own fresh herbs, spices and other specialist ingredients. We opened a new, larger restaurant in Frith Street in 1985 with a new menu but trying to keep the same approach to authenticity. Unfortunately we had to close the Kensington restaurant in 1989 but we maintain our philosophy at our restaurant in Soho.

Guidance Notes.

If you do not know Thai food, please read these few words before you order — or ask us for suggestions. We want to ensure you enjoy your meal and to hopefully convert you to the true flavours of Thailand.

Ordering A Thai Meal

There are several ways of eating Thai food depending on your hunger and the time of day. We have organised our new Bahn Thai menu by dividing it into sections to reflect this.

1. To accompany drinks or for an interesting meal without much appetite any time.
If you are not particularly hungry, one of the most popular formats would be to order a selection of small dishes, no rice, and to snack as an accompaniment to drinks. For suitable dishes, see under the 'Snacking Starters' in our menu.

2. A lunch time.
At lunchtime the Thais will often have a single bowl of noodles, fried rice or steamed rice topped with a curry or a fried dish. Select a dish from the second section of the menu and order rice to go with it. This will make a good, quick, light lunch.

3. For a heavier lunch or dinner.
A typical Thai full meal consists of at least four and frequently many more dishes which are placed in the centre of the table for all to share. The normal constituents of a meal should include a curry, a fried dish with chillies and another often with crushed garlic, pepper and coriander paste, a fish, either fried, steamed or grilled, some vegetables, often raw, and normally a soup and an egg dish or omelette. A meal like the above is normally then ordered by a party of at least four to six people. For smaller parties, order a smaller selection. Rice will almost always accompany the meal and is served onto individual plates in front of each diner.

Eating a Thai meal.

The Thais normally eat with a spoon and fork unless they are having a Northern or North Eastern meal where the staple is glutinous rice. In that case they use their hands. Do not feel afraid to eat in this manner. Chopsticks are only used for Chinese food or for plates of noodles, which originate from Chinese cuisine. For normal meals, each diner's plate is piled with rice. All the flavoured dishes are placed in the centre of the table and dishes are sampled in turn. The idea of 'My Dish' is anathema to a Thai table. Everything is communal. To enjoy the food at its best, take a small spoonful from a serving plate and eat it with the rice on your plate. Do not take too much at a time. This prevents the individual flavours from being mixed and often spoiled. The normal English habit of making a 'dog's dinner' by piling 'My Third' of each dish on the plate at the start of the meal is usually a mistake. Please, however, feel free to experiment.

Spicy food.

Chillies are an integral part of Thailand's cuisine and can become addictive. They lower cholesterol in the blood and also act as painkillers by promoting the production of natural endorphins. Beware though, false brands with chillies can be genuinely dangerous, especially if you are not used to them. If you are attacked by one, the best remedy is to eat lots of plain rice. Water is of very little help.

Parties at Bahn Thai

We are very happy to cater for parties, meetings or receptions for up to 50 people at Bahn Thai for Lunch or Dinner. We have a selection of example party menus and are only too happy to discuss individual requirements. Please speak to a manager.

The Bahn Thai Menu.

To make ordering easier, we have tried to annotate the menu throughout with symbols to denote degrees of spiciness, the temperature of a dish, (if it is a salad) and dishes suitable for vegetarians. Please see the list below.

Key to symbols.

The dish may be spicy but will have a low temperature.

The dish can be prepared for vegetarians.

The dish will be a little bit spicy.

The dish will be medium hot.

The dish will be hot, even for some Thais.

Please note. In order to ensure the highest quality, our food is prepared and cooked only when it is ordered. We are therefore never able to offer instant service of a dish. We operate a queuing system in the kitchen. When we are busy, there will invariably be delays.

If you are in a hurry, please let us know so that we can suggest quicker dishes or advise you if there is insufficient time. We prefer to suggest a different restaurant rather than to disappoint you by being unable to allow time for a relaxed meal.

All dishes are offered subject to our having the ingredients available. If we have been unexpectedly busy we may be unable to serve some dishes you want. To overcome this, please feel free to order any dish when you make your reservation. We will do our utmost to look after you.

Lastly: If you have any problems, Please let us know. We can only improve if people are kind enough to tell us where we are going wrong.

SECTION 1. @mimim Starters and dishes that do not need rice.

All the dishes in this section can be ordered either as 1. Starters or 2. With rice as part of a main course or 3. By themselves as snacks with drinks. We heartily recommend the latter form of eating. It is very popular with Thais and those who know Thailand well. You feel free to experiment and order as many dishes as you like. As a guide, three to four portions of different dishes should be sufficient for a meal for two people. You can always order more if you are still hungry.

๑๓๓๓๓๓๓๓ Soups

The soups in this section of the menu would normally be ordered as an accompaniment to a full Thai meal. They would seldom be ordered as a course in themselves. However, feel free to experiment. Thai soups are served straight from the pot in which they are prepared into the serving bowl. They still include all the flavouring herbs and spices, some of which can be quite woody in texture. Do not hesitate to leave bits on the side of the plate. They are generally served as a single portion into the middle of the table. Diners dip their spoons into the communal pot and take some to their plate, add rice and eat. Beware of hidden, floating "green" toppings, they can bite back!

	Sliced beef in a light broth with bean sprouts and a separate bowl of chilli, garlic and lemon sauce to pop it up.

SECTION 2. ๑๓๓๓๓๓๓ Dishes best eaten with rice.

All the dishes in this section of the menu would be eaten with rice as part of a main meal in Thailand. The portion size is designed to provide a reasonable meal for one person or to be easily shared by four to five. If a group of you are eating, depending on the size of the group, we suggest you order one or two dishes from each area of this section. They will be served into the center of the table for all to share. Please feel free to ask for help in ordering. For parties of eight or more we suggest you ask for our help. For example, it is better to order two portions of each of four or five dishes than to go for a different dish for each member of the party. If you order small amounts of more dishes, there will not be enough of any one dish for all to share.

๐๑๒ - CURRIES

The Thai repertoire of curries is large and richly varied, they vary in taste, flavour and texture. Some are stronger than paine stripper while others very delicate. The main flavouring ingredients in Thai curries comes from a curry paste, pounded from a mixture of fresh herbs and spices and frequently containing onions, garlic and a strongly flavoured shrimp paste. Many, but by no means all curries also contain coconut milk and cream. At Suha Thai we have chosen a selection of the better known and most popular for you to choose.

Order Thai curry dishes can be cooked for you by special order, normally with a minimum of 48 hours notice.

SAUCE PRICK DISHES

These sauces tend to be very spicy and pungent. They are not recommended for the faint hearted. Sauces similar to the first one form a very important part of the rural Thai diet as they provide a large percentage of the protein intake. They will always be eaten with rice, normally raw or plain steamed vegetables and often an omelet.

6180	Nam Prick Ngai	Non pungent sauce made with garlic, chilli and sun cured shrimp paste.	6.95
6190	Nam Prick Ong	A minced pork sauce. Less pungent than the one above.	6.45

NOODLE AND RICE DISHES

In Thailand, most main meals would only be eaten with plain steamed rice or, in the North and North East, glutinous rice. The dishes comprising the meal contain enough flavour and might clash with a fried, flavoured rice. If you wish however, you can order a flavoured rice or noodle dish as an alternative or in addition to plain rice.

6200	Khaijiao Pad Thai	Rice noodles fried in the Thai style with tomato paste, ground peanuts, banana, egg and pork, banana or prawns.
5501	Goong	Prawn noodles	6.45
5502	Moo	Pork Noodles	5.45
5503	Je	Vegetarian Noodles	5.45
6210	Khao Pad Seppard	Fried rice with pork, chicken, prawns, crab and pineapple.	6.95
6220	Khao Pad Ngua Foo + Goong	Fried Rice with Crab Meat and prawns.	6.45
6230	Khao Pad Ngua Foo	Fried rice with crab meat and egg.	5.95
6240	Khao Pad Jai	Vegetarian fried rice with soy sauce.	1.25
6250	Khao Pad Ngai	Fried rice with egg.	1.25
6260	Khao Ngua	Glutinous rice, the staple food of Laos and the North and North East of Thailand. Served in traditional Thai hand woven bamboo baskets.	1.45
We recommend, if you like, that you eat glutinous rice in the Thai manner and dispense with your spoon and fork. Use your hands, roll a ball of rice and dip it into one of the flavoured dishes in the center of the table, scooping some of the dish up. Pop it into your mouth and eat. This rice is very filling.
6270	Khao	Steamed Thai Jasmine Scented Rice, prized as the best quality rice grown in Thailand	1.25

SECTION 3. @M17 Sample Thai meals.

These examples show the type of meal that might be ordered by Thais or old Thai hands under different circumstances. They are best ordered by at least four people because this allows a reasonable selection of different tastes, textures and ingredients. We have only included Thai style meals and have not divided them into starters, main courses etc because this is not the way they would be eaten in Thailand. We also call them sample meals because they are examples only of the type of meal you might want to order. To order yourselves, we suggest you follow the format of the sample meals shown and order the selection of your choice from our menu.

Sample Meal 1
For Two Diners

A suggestion for a meal to eat with drinks, taken from the first section of our menu.

The snack selection below would cost £2.40 for two people.

A basket of crispy prawn crackers with a spicy dipping sauce

Stuck sticks grilled over charcoal. Served with little bowls of lightly spiced peanut sauce and pickled vegetables.

Don Sim dumplings of minced pork, bamboo shoots and water chestnuts with a soya/garlic sauce. Chicken wing joints fried crispy with garlic and pepper.

Thai Sashimi Prawns. Fresh raw prawns marinated and served with a spicy hot or sour chilli sauce. Finely minced Chicken salad with lemon juice, dried ground chilli, pounded rice and galangal, served on a bed of lettuce with fresh, raw french beans.

Sample Meal 2
For Two Diners

A suggestion for a full Thai meal, selected from anywhere within our menu.

The meal selection below would cost £33.35 for two people.

A basket of crispy prawn crackers with a spicy dipping sauce

Spicy hot and sour mixed seafood soup flavoured with lemon grass and lemon juice. Served in a traditional Thai namboon.

A green chicken curry with coconut milk, Thai aubergines and fresh Thai herbs.

Minced beef fried with sliced chillies and fresh Thai basil.

Fried Thai vegetable with garlic and oyster sauce. Steamed Thai Jasmine Scented Rice

Sample Meal 3
For Four Diners

A suggestion for a meal to eat with drinks.

To order yourselves, we suggest you follow the format below and order a selection from the first section of our menu.

Perhaps order one, two or three dishes at a time, returning to the menu as appetite, time and budget allow.

The snack selection below would cost £20.05 for four people.

A basket of crispy prawn crackers with a spicy dipping sauce

Stuck sticks grilled over charcoal. Served with little bowls of lightly spiced peanut sauce and pickled vegetables.

Minced chicken cooked with garlic, fresh gram peppercorns and light spices. Served with peanuts, chopped lemon and raw fresh, Thai basil leaves to wrap it in.

Thai Sashimi Prawns. Fresh raw prawns marinated and served with a spicy hot or sour chilli sauce.

Thai style fried dry salt beef. The Thai version of Biltong or Jerky

Sample Meal 4
For Four Diners

A suggestion for a full Thai meal.

To order yourselves, as in Sample Meal 1, we suggest you follow the format below and order a selection from anywhere within our menu. Perhaps order one to two dishes per person, depending on your appetite and budget.

The meal selection below would cost £42.25 for four people.

A basket of crispy prawn crackers with a spicy dipping sauce

Spicy hot and sour mixed seafood soup flavoured with lemon grass and lemon juice. Served in a traditional Thai namboon.

A green chicken curry with coconut milk, Thai aubergines and fresh Thai herbs.

Pork fried with a garlic, pepper and coriander paste.

Section 4

Parties At Bohn Thai.

At Bohn Thai we are able to accommodate parties, receptions or meetings with food and drink for up to 50 people. If you wish to reserve a party with us, we strongly request that you order your meal in advance. If you choose to order on the night, we frequently have problems due to missing ingredients and/or insufficient preparation. We can serve either in the Thai manner as an accompaniment to drink or a full Thai style Thai meal or, if you wish, in the Western style with the meal divided into Starters, Soups and Main Courses. As a guide, if you wish to eat in the Western manner with the meal divided into courses, our prices for food for a party menu start at a minimum of £2.50 per head. We show examples of each type of meal below, separate and overlap. We have a larger selection of examples available for you on request. We are also very happy to tailor a meal to your requirements, including suggesting wines and/or other drinks. Please ask a manager for details.

The following menus are examples of meals that might be served as an accompaniment to a Thai drinking party. They would only be suitable for a party of ten people or more, and the price would be dependent on the number of diners. Dishes would appear at intervals over a two or more hour period. This method of eating is an ideal way to relax with friends. There will be no rice.

GOOD EVENING

The Management and staff of "CHINA ROSE" welcome you.

In our menu we have tried to incorporate all the types of dishes that you would find in a typical Cantonese meal.

If you have any particular favourite dish which does not appear on the menu, our staff will endeavour to make it for you.

If you are a newcomer to Chinese food the Manager and staff are always ready to help and advise you.

A more healthy diet and the eating of natural foods without additives etc., is uppermost in most people's mind nowadays.

Here at "CHINA ROSE" we try to bring you all that is best in our meals. We use only the freshest seafoods, meat, poultry and vegetables. Only the most natural cooking oils are used in the cooking of our food.

The spices we use and the dishes we prepare are as varied as the regions of China itself.

We are a family business, our two brothers are cooks with over thirty years experience in the preparation and cooking of the many dishes we offer you.

A lot of preparation is necessary to ensure that the food arrives on your table hot and freshly cooked, as all Chinese food should be, and the main objective of "CHINA ROSE" is that you should enjoy the food in a warm and friendly atmosphere.

Jenny Lo's Teahouse has been creating a stir in Belgravia since it opened in February 1995 on the site of her father's cookery school Ken Lo's kitchen.

The Teahouse, the first of its kind in London offers five noodles (including fresh egg, wun tun and wheat-free noodles) and rice dishes created from authentic Chinese recipes.

Accompanying the dishes are a range of green and red teas including the famous 'Iron Goddess of Mercy' Wulong tea. A qualified Chinese Herbalist has exclusively blended therapeutic teas for the Teahouse which are designed to fortify and cleanse the body.

"Jenny Lo: her father's secret recipe"
Telegraph

"It tasted and smelt terrific...
wonderfully clean and heady"
Observer

"Refreshingly authentic"
Health and Fitness

"Chinese Haute Cuisine"
Daily Mail

"A splendid laksa of prawns and squid in a golden coconut broth... healthy enough to leave us feeling full of life"
